

Email message from Liz Depper, President to members of Executive 12 July 2021

Here is David Malcolm's response to the question:

Will there be financial support for moderation in 2022? Plans are having to be made in LAs but without confirmation these cannot progress beyond an outline.

In respect of the query I've now heard back and what I can say is that there will be a retrospective payment this autumn recognising the costs incurred by LAs for this (2020/21) academic year. As we've not yet made an announcement yet regarding next year's assessments, including teacher moderation, there's nothing that can be confirmed in regards to 2021/22 (this is something we're working on and are keen to get something out to schools and LAs in the near future if we can). I can say that, should teacher assessment proceed, there's not presently any discussion about making changes in respect of those payments.
